Swiss R O Ans B21

What experience do you have in developing procedures?

I developed procedures when I worked for Miller Law Group so that I could reconcile his accounts and prepare his deposits.

What lessons did you learn from previous leadership positions?

I learned the importance of delegating to others. Many times I like to do the work myself and have a lot of trouble giving control to other people.
I learned how to provide training for Club officers at their clubs and provide opportunities for them to ask and answer questions.

Learned importance of modeling by Area & District leaders to J. J. Reed on trying to make Area leaders

Why do you want to serve as a District leader?

I want to provide a continuity to what I have seen over the last 2 years as I have served as Area B22 and B21 Area Director. I want to provide a mentorship model so that members of our District 53 have a passion to serve on the District Leadership Team. I have observed that many times an entire Toastmaster term has some positions unfilled.

Encourage Club leaders to serve between clubs and Areas, delegate more

In your opinion, what are the District mission's major objectives and how would you work to achieve them?

District 53's mission is to develop an enthusiasm among its members to have much fun in learning how to speak and lead. If this is done, we will have clubs that achieve excellence. And we will have new clubs being formed I would love to see how existing clubs could mentor the clubs that have just formed. I have observed how some newly formed clubs die off due to a lack of mentoring. In District 53, we need to have a mentorship model of new clubs and we will have many and healthy EOJ clubs for life

Additional information about yourself:

I am the Chief Encouraging Officer of Life (CEOOL) and an overcomer of many handicaps and obstacles. I was able to be a regular panelist on Life Fantastic which was a podcast which delved into topics affecting those with disabilities as I learned how to research various issues affecting society. I can use these lessons to encourage District 53 with being a host on a virtual podcast and to work and take photos of my acts and get them
